THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

This important document was received in this city, yesterday at 10 o'clock, by express; only forty-six hours from Washington, through the agency, we understand of the Mail Contracture: Copics were turnished Mr. Samuel Smith, and the Message was issued from his office in connexion with the Republican, at 5 v'clock yesterday afternoon? We are unable from the lateness of the hour at which we received a copy to lay the message before our readers this morning, but substitute" the following brief abstract. The document entire will be

The message enters at once, in the opening r magraph, upon the causes which induced the President to call the extra session of Congress. First, the suspension of specie pe, ente, inale it a matter of imperative necertifuther concluing about he done to regulate the payment and keeping of the public minies; and as the Ex. s of Congress had become inop. erative through that suspension, he deemed it Lis duly to afford that body an early opportuutty of excreising their powers over the subject Secondly, there is danger apprehended that if Congress do not provide funds, by calling back the surplus money, or in some other way, uncle Sam won't have money enough to pay his debts at the close of the year. Ilt is really a wonder Mr Van Buren did not think of this when localbanks were chosen the list time as places of deposit-for the revenue. It would have enved the country a deal of trouble, some money self a high-minded and consistent Whig? Who and himself no little mortification.] No wonder Mr Van Buren, after the "blow up," gocs tooth and nail against trusting any longer these "fraudulent and treacherous" (vide Gen. Jacksou) histitutions.

Bangor then must give a larger Whig majority on The message now comes to the remedy, which in one word, laby the " paration of Bunk and State," and the creation of Treasury Agents; the receipts and disbursements to be gold and silver only. Furthermore the object should be facilitated by a reduction of the revenue to the actual wants of the Government. The message goes at great length into the sentiments of the executive on the subject; and to prove that the scheme is a good one, a convenient one, a safe one, a capital one, a superb one, a glorious one; a scheme worthy to be recommended by Martin the first, and adopted by the free citizens of the U. States, Anno Domini, 1837. However, the whole subject is entrusted with all confidence to the superior wisdom of Congress.

The Message next informs us that since May last, the Post Office Department has been sucing a Candidate for REPRESENTA- cessfully conducted upon the principle of Yotal abstinence from all bank rags; ergo, the whole revenue might be collected in gold and silver. Mr. Van Buren cannot, for the life of him, see how the establishment of this treasury system; this making the pockets of the office holders the Tressury deflicto; can in any way; increase the patronage or influence of the Executive. Mr. Van Buren is a perject unfleged an innocent, undisguised, and artless; and exceedingly anxious that Congress should relieve him from any responsibility with regard to the public money, the less he has to do with this root of all evil," the better shall he like it.

The Message also goes at length into the discussion of the question of specie payments, and argues that they can easily be made; but as we shall give the paper at length, we need not go into the argument. It is enough that it embraces the specie doctrines from beginning to end, from head to tail.

"The Message says the receipts will not equal the expenditures of the year, and recommends the withholding of the fourth installment of the surplus revenue from the States.

Mr. Van Buren offers, most modestly, his snggestions to Congress, and expresses the opinion hat it, adopted the government will are in it, an allead " in fine style.

The message finally closes with regret for the causes which demanded the call of Congress, dictation of the White House and with the hope that its deliberations, confined solely to the single object for which it had been assembled, would be speedily concluded, and telief afforded bolli the government and the which have carried distress and ruin in their

[From the Madisonian] THE STATE BANKS.

The State Banks are arraigned before the country, charged with baseness, treachery and fraud ; baseness in missonronrialing-their funde lation of their engagements, and fraud in "rob-bing the poor of their hard earnings" by the means of irredeemable paper.

These are grave and learful charges. If true every bank against which they shall be substan. tiated, ought to be dear-used; if not tree a vindication is due to them, and some savor of justice should be administered to the authors of a scheme calculated to stab with a fatal wound London dates of the 5th the dearest interests of this community, and to turn back that tide of prosperity which has so pre coninently distinguished it above all other nations of the earth. The parties in this case must be put upon trial and the subject should treceive a cabil, unprejudiced, and thorough in-Heraid states that the ministers has been justiced and the propriety of a period of prejudying and orienteers and for mortality by yellow fever among the functions.

been their lot to suffer, have been a part of a contrived plan to bring them into discredit and difficulty. That they are any more to blame in the creation of the present state of things, than were one hundred and thirty-three, of which the government, or individuals, we have yet to learn. They may not have been able to charge their appropriate dulies; neither has the government, nor individuals. nor hundreds of corporations, of characters differing from banks.

If the "experiment of state banks area, has not succeeded, to the extent desired, the question may well arise whether it is the fault of the banks, of the government or of the people. it is at least certain that a state of things has hap. pened over which the banks had no confrol which has divested them temporarily of the listural condition necessary to give the experiment a fair trial. If there is any criminality in this, it is partaken of by the government in common with every individual in the community. And are the banks to be singled out to bear the borden of a general sin? There is the viously no sort of justice in casting imputations. upon any particular class when all are alikahable to similar censure.

the same crime, when from the punforseen

But we are told that the banks are under the control of a foreign power and the subjects in commands among us, that, they are callogether alien in interest, feelings, and principles, to the producing classes of the United States." Wehave heard much alarm_professed to be oppre. bended at the employment of toreign capital inthis country. With how much justice, common sense and experience have shown .- Wdisdain as much as any van, either direct,or implied allegiance to foreign powers; we feel piona as any, at the constiounness of bring abee. lutely independent of all foreign nations. But because we are jealous of our neighbor, is it any reason that we should not burrow his lever, and use, it possible; to our advantage the great secret of his sucress? Why is it that men will be guilty of the singular anomaly of cherishing, if not courting, the poverty of Europe, while they effect the most alarming apprehension at the idea of touching its money? ...

There is no truth in the aweeping declaration that the banks are under the control of a foreign power. "Alien in interests?" They have been the beet promoters of the most cherished interests of our country. ... Alien in feelings? They carried us triumphantly through two wars and secured to us an honorable peace, and the condition of a highly cultivated community -Alien in principles: They have ever sought such privileges only as might be extended to them at the hands of the people and have asked no more, generally, than could to granted to them by the strictest regard for the constitution, and the best interests of the country. 'Hostikto the producing Classes!' Iney have been the instrument to their success. And who are the "producing classes?" With but a few exceptions, the entire population of the United States. And have we just discovered, after all the blood and treasure contributed by our fathand ocumnatics of learning. roads and canal, our manufacturing establishments of various sorts, our ships and steam vesand our ben volent institutions, have all been the offering of forcign fore, and therefore are "alien in interests, principles and feelings" to a people who have grown up by them and with them, and become exalted through they influence and with their protection! Shall we now abandon these institutions, and permit them through the assaults of their enemies to dwindle into insignificance and contempt? Shall we yield them an easy sacrifice at the all-consuming altar of radicalism? Never. This preparation is not surpassed by any in use for the above-named discusses, is prompt and efficient in its action and may be relied on as perfectly safa. In fact it may be considered a DESIDERATUM in the list of curatives, and combines advantages not possessed by ant arricle of the kind-heretonore of lered to the public. The Pills should in all cases of Rheumanism be used with the Lipiment, for which ample directions accompany each bottle. They are equally well adopted for family physic, and may be taken with advantage in Billious complaints and Colds attended with fever, pain in the back, &c &e. The Rheumatic Liniment and Pills are put up in packages, each containing a three ounce bottle of Inniment and a hox of thirty Pills, at the very low price of 50 CENTS PER PACKAGE
